

Notes for Catering Team

Thank you for volunteering to help on the catering team at the Head Race. The role is important as the refreshments are an integral part of the experience at our event for competitors.

Principle

The role is to provide support on the refreshment stall providing hot drinks and hot and cold foods such as burgers, cakes and confectionery, and taking payment. You will not be expected to cook the hot food unless you would like to be involved in this in which case please discuss with the catering team leader. If by any chance you have a hygiene certificate this will be very useful. Generally the items are all priced in round £1s or 50ps to avoid too much change being required.

Location

The refreshment tables are located at the back of the covered area between the centre and river boathouses. The BBQ is located on the paved area between the river boathouse and the club-room.

Shift times

Unlike the helpers on the river the catering shifts do not really need to correspond to the division times as the refreshment stall runs all day. However for convenience we break the sessions down into four in the same way as we do for all the other roles. As much flexibility in terms of your attendance will make it easier and will be appreciated.

Dangers

The role can involve working with hot equipment such as the BBQ and hot water urn so please keep yourself safe and if you have any concerns during the day raise these with the catering team leader. In case of an accident such as a burn there is a qualified First Aider on site in the club-room who can attend and make an initial assessment.

For further information the catering team leader is Richard 'Thor' Baldwin and his email is richardisthor@gmail.com
