

Notes for Catering Team

Thank you for volunteering to help on the catering team at the Head Race. The role is important as the refreshments are an integral part of the experience at our event for competitors.

Principle

The role is to provide support on the refreshment stall providing hot drinks and hot and cold foods such as burgers, cakes and confectionery, and taking payment. You will not be expected to cook the hot food unless you would like to be involved in this in which case please discuss with the catering team leader. If by any chance you have a hygiene certificate this will be very useful. The club has two card payment machines as many people pay by card rather than using cash.

Location

The BBQ and refreshment tables are located behind the middle boathouses.

Shift times

Unlike the helpers on the river the catering shifts do not really need to correspond to the division times as the refreshment stall runs all day. As much flexibility in terms of your attendance will make it easier and will be appreciated.

Dangers

The role can involve working with hot equipment such as the BBQ and hot water urn so please keep yourself safe and if you have any concerns during the day raise these with the catering team leader. In case of an accident such as a burn there is a qualified First Aider on site in the club room.

The catering team leader is Rachel Davies.
